The queen contest was of two parts; horsemanship, and judging of poise, speech, and figure. In the horsemanship category, held February 19, the girls had to show their horses at a walk, trot, canter, and quarter and half turns. In the second part, held February 26, the girls gave speeches; Connie's was entitled "The Transition of America's Means of Transportation."

Crazy Hats Day was held Wednesday, March 2. A few of the catastrophic monstrosities are shown here.

Radio Station at Eisenhower?

To clear the air about the squabbles in the lack of communications at Eisenhower, why not try to fill the air with an on campus radio station?

The Amateur Radio Club of Eisenhower High School has already built a miniature station capable of covering the entire quad area with one-sixteenth of a watt. If allowed to operate from the ticket window in the gym, this station, that could be picked up on any radio, could broadcast not only all sports, musical activities, and assemblies, but could act as a means of public affairs mediation by giving school news and special messages. This might even drive in the word about clean campus.

A radio station of this type could give entertainment by playing the "top hit" records and could act as a means of money making for the club by complimentary advertising.

If you are worried about the F.C.C.—a low powered station of this type is permitted by law. So if any of that money that was going to be used for the sign is still on hand, why not help to put Eisenhower radio K-IKE on the air during lunch periods.

With His Heads In The Clouds

Some of you may be under the impression that most of your teachers are quiet geniuses who have no other interest than books and study. Well, you are quite wrong. Let us take for example, Mr. Cannon, an EHS chemistry teacher. For a past time he is a parachuter and mountain climber. You are probably wondering how he ever became involved in such dangerous activities; well, before he attended Missouri University and Redlands University, where he obtained his Masters Degree, he was in the United States Marine Corps for four years. This is where he first became acquainted with jumping, but he actually went to "jumping school", for one month at Fort Benning, Georgia, in 1963. He now belongs to the Marine Corps Reserve, Fourth Force Reconnaissance Unit of San Bernardino. His job in time of war would be to support an Army airborne unit; he is a Ford Air Controller.

But, he is also quite active in time of peace. For example, a few weekends ago, Feb. 12-13, he participated in a publicity jump at the University of California at Santa Cruz. They made a night and day jump. He usually parachutes at Camp Pendleton in El Centro, one weekend out of each month.

As I mentioned before, he not only parachutes, but mountain climbs as well. Two summers ago, he attended the Marine Corps Mountain Climbing School for two weeks. He is now capable of classified climbing, which entails using ropes and other equipment.

These activities may impress some of you as being quite dangerous, but he assured me that "They're less dangerous than football, and has less accidents." I guess it all comes with practice and experience.

Of course, Mr. Cannon does have his lighter side. He is married and has three boys. He likes teaching chemistry and this is his second year at Ike. He previously taught at Arrowhead Junior High for four years. For recreation, he enjoys golf and plays both the guitar and piano.

Alan Davis to Entertain Eisenhower Student Body

Coming to Eisenhower High School as an entertainer at one of our top assemblies, March 22, is Alan Davis.

Mr. Davis is 29 and has appeared in over four hundred high school assemblies during the last school year.

He will present a program of musical variety using his voice and trombone, using his sound tracks from his records as an accomplishment. The major portion of the Assembly presentation will be built around the subject of the "typical teenager." His message will be made of satire combined with humor and it will contain the subject of teen-age values. School-men and Young people alike have given Mr. Davis a wide acclaim.

Mr. Davis, since 1962, has traveled in 34 countries throughout the world, and to add to this adventure, on every continent.

Alan Davis invited young America to COME ALIVE as an appropriate introduction to this unusual young man's approach to teen-agers everywhere.

American Leadership Takes Sharp Turn and Has Grown a New Face!

American leadership seems to be shaping into new trends. Not long ago, a leader had to be fairly old to be accepted as being wise. With John F. Kennedy's election as president, however, American leadership took a sharp turn and has grown a new face.

Kennedy promoted youthful men into high government offices. He encouraged young people to advance themselves and with the Peace Corps, youthful members branched out into the far corners of the world to help fight poverty, disease and oppression — and by doing this the face of youth became more bearable in the public eye.

Indeed, the trend is for more youthful leaders, for America has finally come to realize that to be old does not mean the same as to be wise, and wisdom can be found in youth if only it is tapped correctly.

Letter to Editor:

"Draft Ditchers"

It is a "common run" nowadays to talk about the eligibility of boys and men being drafted. Then the fact comes to mind about the draft card burners and protest marchers. Mothers and fathers who have sons eligible for the draft ask, "Why doesn't the government send the traitors to Viet Nam?" But the remaining question is — "Should we send the protestors or not?"

In my opinion, to serve your country is a privilege. Unfortunately some people don't look at it in this manner, they only want to reap the benefits of our governmental system. I personally believe that it would be a waste of time to send these people to serve their country, for the reason that if they are unpatriotic on home soil they would probably not serve their country faithfully if they had a chance.

Remember, I am not sympathizing with Johnson's policy but it is something that is here and we must face it.

The only harm being unpatriotic can do is to the future of our culture and society.

No Privileges For EHS Seniors

I have a very short, but very essential matter to present to Eisenhower High School Student body. For two years, I have been told to look forward to my senior year as a time of long awaited privileges.

Now, my third year of high school has advanced through one semester, and I still await these so called "senior privileges." Unlike other schools, Eisenhower seniors have no special area to call their own. Even our assembly privileges are treated upon and snickered at by underclassmen.

Not only are we seniors being deprived of our long-earned privileges, but the sophomores and juniors of our school are also being deprived of the hope of their senior year of privileges.

I ask no impossible favor, just the due respect of a school to its senior class.

Superior Senior Sayings

Senioritis, that malady that strikes all good seniors sooner or later.

You know what I am talking about. Seniors realize that this is the last semester in high school and start to slack off. Their studies go down hill followed by their grades. Is it worth it to fail before graduation and have to go to summer school?

All seniors arise and revolt against poor grades! Hitch up your pants, open your books and study, study, study. But remember there is less than one and a half quarters of school left.

Student Council Worked in Vain?

Student Council spent over two solid weeks working on the revision of the ASB Constitution and did a good job on it. They then printed it up and sent it out to all the citizens of EHS. They also taped a TV program to stimulate interest. And what did they receive for all this trouble? A great big blah!

On the night of the hearing the number of students that showed up could be counted on two hands. One class did send a representative with a specific question, but the rest jjust didn't care.

If this is the type of interest that is shown in student government, why don't we just select a dictator and let him run the school? It would be a lot more efficient and no one would have a chance to gripe.

Students gripe about a lot of things at school that never seem to be hurting them enough to come and talk about it.

So students, arise out of your lethargy and do something.

— Thomas Mocilac

Did The Flu Get You?

For a while Eisenhower faced the possibility of being a "ghost school." The attendance Office gasped as absence went up from the normal 8 per-cent to 16 per-cent. It then took a leap to 23 per-cent and finally crept up to 25 per-cent. With one-fourth of our student body missing, classes went on; many with substitute teachers.

Attendance Secretary, Mary Jo Perkins is happy to report that the absence rate is returning to normal. Eisenhower has withstood the mass attack of influenza.

The moral to this story of facts and figures is that, "Eisenhower had 25% fewer students with influenza!"

MY, MY, — ALL THAT POWER AND NO INTEREST

Say, I sure am glad the House of Representatives got all that power! I sure am glad the House can pass legislation! I sure am glad they can veto the student Council! Since they got all this power they can't get a quorum, committees don't meet, and chairmen don't attend meetings. In fact, of the forty-five representatives at the March 2 meeting a grand total of seven stayed for the hearing for the revised constitution!

LIBRARY RECEIVES ADDITIONAL BOOKS

Europe Anyone??

Have you ever wanted to hike in the Swiss Alps, have an audience with the Pope, ride in a gondola on the streets of Venice, or see an authentic Spanish Bull Fight?

These are just a few of the features of a Student tour of Europe. Beginning July 1, 1966, Mr. and Mrs. Bryan Burke will accompany a group of San Bernardino, Highland, Rialto, and Fontana students to Europe. Mr. Burke is a teacher and Director of Student Activities at San Bernardino High School.

The tour features such places as Copenhagen, London, Paris, Amsterdam, Lucerne, Vienna, Florence, Venice, Rome, Capri, Barcelona, Madrid and Lisbon. In all about 20,000 miles will be covered in visiting 12 countries. You have read about the exciting places of Europe. Now you can see them, touch them, hear them and smell them.

The group will depart from Los Angeles by SAS jet and fly the polar route to Greenland and on to Copenhagen. An English-narrated tour of the city is planned and visits to the summer residence of the King at Fredericksborg Castle, Kronberg Castle at Elsinore, the home of Hamlet, and a visit to Tivoli Gardens. While in Copenhagen during their free time, students may take a 35-minute Hydrofoil ride across the Oresund 16 miles to Malmo, Sweden. Free time has been planned for each stay in large cities to enable the young ambassadors to see particular places of their own interest.

While in London, in addition to a tour of well-known sites of interest, students will attend a Shakespearean play and attend the London Palladium. Then on to Paris and visits to the Louvre, Montmartre, Arc De Triomphe and the Eiffel Tower, where they will dine. A tour of the Palace at Versailles, where, in the Hall of Mirrors, the Treaty ending World War I was signed, ends our four-day stay in Paris.

Departing from Paris by airliner the next stop is Amsterdam, which in the past the students have been found to be one of the quaintest and cleanest cities on the tour. In Amsterdam the group will pick up their motor coach in which they will tour the continent. There will be multi-lingual guide with the tour throughout Europe. At Coblenz the students will embark by river steamer for a trip down the Rhine River. The ship ride is used because the castles and villages face the river which was the "Highway" at the time they were built. Disembarking from the steamer, the students will tour Wiesbaden and Heidelberg which is familiar to the students as the locale of the operetta "The Student Prince." They will dine at the famous "Red Ox Inn." Rejoining the bus, they will travel to Lucerne. The views in the Alps have been a favorite of students on past tours. In Lucerne after a tour of the city the group will have a steamer cruise of Lake Lucerne and a Swiss Fondue dinner at the Stadtkeller Restaurant complete with yodeling. On to Interlaken where the students will ride the cog Railway into the Alps for hiking. After an overnight stay they will ride down the next day by tram. On to Innsbruck, the site of the 1964 Winter Olympics. Here they will spend an evening featuring typical Tyrolean singing and dancing at the Maria Theresia Hotel. Next stop is Salsburg, the home of Mozart. While in Salsburg, the students will attend the opera "La Boheme." While in Vienna a visit to Schonbrunn Palace, the site of the Kennedy Khrushchev meeting, tour of the Vienna Woods, and a tour of Liechtenstein Castle is planned.

A ride in a gondola will probably be a highlight of the visit to Venice. For many a visit to St. Marks Square or the Bridge of Sighs will be long remembered. Next to Florence, the cradle of Renaissance Art. After a tour of the city, a visit to the Medici Chapel to view the works of Michelangelo is planned. They will also see Ponte Vecchio and the renowned Pitti Palace and Gallery. On to the Eternal City, Rome. Time has been so arranged that the students will tour all the sites of both ancient and modern Rome. Included on the tours are Et. Paul's, Vatican City, the Forum, and the Coliseum. Arrangements have been made for an audience with the Pope and they will see the breathtaking treasures of the Vatican Museum and Library and thrill to Michelangelo's frescoes in the Sistine Chapel. They will attend the opera "Aida" on the huge stage, and for the swimming enthusiasts, swimming in the Olympic pool.

The south to Capri for well deserved rest and relaxation on the beaches. After viewing the Blue Grotto the students will swim in the clear blue waters of Capri. At Naples, the students will embark on a 2-day cruise of the Mediterranean aboard a modern, fully air-conditioned passenger liner. Relax and soak up the sun while one discusses his experiences and adventures with fellow students, enroute to Barcelona. Here a Spanish beach party is planned in addition to a tour of the city. On to the capital Madrid and a drive to the Royal Palace. At the Prado Museum will be viewed canvasses by Velasquez, El Greco and Rubens. A full day excursion to Toledo, the oldest city in Europe, and a visit to the home of El Greco. Dinner at Luis Candelas' Cave features Castillian cuisine in an old hideout of the highwayman. Waiters are dressed as bandits. A highlight is a visit to the Bull Ring in Madrid.

While in Lisbon the student will not only tour the city, but as at the other larger cities, will tour the surrounding country. A farewell dinner at the famous "Cozinha Velha" Restaurant inside the Palace of Queluz, overlooking the city of Lisbon will bring the seven adventurous weeks to a close. The return to Los Angeles will be made via New York.

This 3rd annual trip has proven to be such a success and has continued every summer because it affords the student a first hand view of the history, art, literature or the language he is studying

Teacher Feature

By Carol Porter

There is no doubt that one of the greatest pleasures of the modern American housewife is collecting trading stamps. This week's featured teacher, Mrs. Christine Phelps, is typical in that respect and is extremely enthusiastic about the many items she has procured for her home with these stamps. Not only economical but immensely patriotic, Mrs. Phelps' greatest ambition is to meet former President Dwight D. Eisenhower. As an American citizen she cast her first vote for him.

Senora Phelps, as called by her Spanish speaking students, comes to us from San Jose, Costa Rica. She received her education at the University of Costa Rica and upon coming to the United States, she attended the University of Redlands here in California.

Mrs. Phelps truly believes the United States is the greatest country in the world, and is proud to be an American citizen. When first coming here she was fascinated by modernization and is extremely fond of all her household appliances. She admires creative students, and claims here pet peeve as being students who don't bring pencil and paper to class.

Among Mrs. Phelps' favorites in the entertainment field are Gregory Peck and Deborah Kerr. When asked if she ever had any ambitions other than teaching, she replied that she would like to be a lawyer and that one of her favorite TV shows was Perry Mason.

When asked about her plans for the future, she said she hopes to spend a summer vacation in Spain sometime in the next few years. Her plans for the very immediate future include saving enough stamps for a flash camera so she can take pictures of her students.

Optimistic, cheerful, and always patient with her students, the staff is proud to have Mrs. Phelps as this week's feature teacher.

members. The chaperone for this impressive dinner was William Wood, sponsor of the EHS chapter of Thespians and drama teacher at Eisenhower.

After many humorous happenings and the dinner, the serious and traditional candlelight ceremony was carried out by Marianne Pasquarelli, President; David Miller, Vice President; Lynne Walker, Secretary; Punky Hesse, Treasurer; and Ellis Potter and Esther Fink, Scribes. During the ceremony, the six initiates had to give a two minute sketch to prove their worthiness of the honor being bestowed upon them.

In closing the ceremony, officers presented the new members with certificates while the new members extinguished the candles.

was selected as winner. She will now compete against students from Colton, Fontana, and Bloomington for district honors next month.

Susie, Barbara and Elaine were introduced by their coach, Miss Sonja Ellingson, during the dinner.

Mrs. Johnson Speaks to MCC

Mrs. Barbra Johnson, from the San Bernardino Children's Clinic, attended the Medical Careers Club meeting Wednesday, February 23, to talk to the girls about working with children who have brain damage. Mrs. Johnson said that these children need special help in developing new pathways through the brain.

She explained that this is accomplished in several ways, one of which the students will help in is to teach or re-teach the child to crawl in a synchronized manner as a basic exercise. That is to get the child, if he is left-handed to use his left eye or if right-handed to use his right eye.

On March 12, Saturday, there will be another meeting at the Children's Clinic where the students will be instructed as to their duties.

Mr. Snyder Says

by Nancy Burton
Kathy McCrawley

Yes, again we are bothering Mr. Snyder for his words of wisdom. Today we asked for his opinion on the Donkey Basketball Game, this is what he said: "Oh, the Donkey Basketball Game huh? Well, I think this is tremendous for school spirit, because of the competition between teacher and student, it brings together a good relationship."

At the end of our talk he commented, "I think it is a wonderful idea."

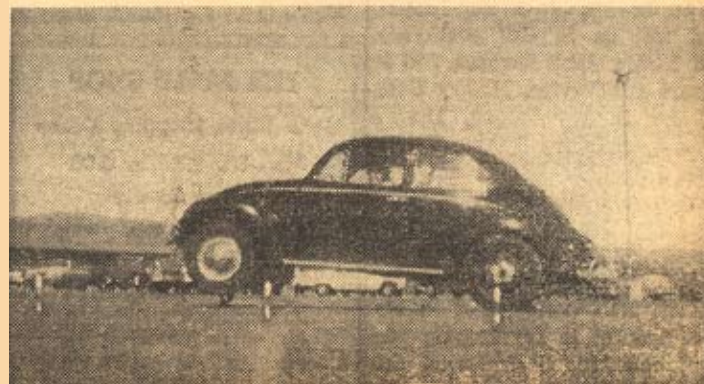

Now for some coming attractions, next week we will have some students views on Mr. Snyder, which should prove to be quite interesting.

Kar Korner

This week's car belongs to Bill Bernier. It is an extremely hot VW. This hotrod looks mild but commonly can be seen racing at Fontana in G /MP (G modified production) class. His E.T. is in the low 15's with an 89.75 MPH timing.

The exterior is a jet-black diamond gloss paint job. The interior is accented by airplane bucket seats, covico steering wheel and S.W. gauges. The trans is of course a 4-speed y EMPI. Now we get to this gem's power train. It is a fuel-injected Porche engine with an Isky full-race cam. It has aluminum racing pistons, and header by "Doug." It also has 7.00x15 inch casler racing slicks turned by a 3.88 rear end.

This car is in our parking lot and will race anybody in his class for "pink slips"! If you want to race him meet him at school, or you can go to Fontana Drag Strip and lose equally as bad.

The unexpected ones did it again, with surprising strength in the distance events to go with it's perennially swift sprinters romped second Steeler's Relays Championship Saturday.

The Cardinals racked up tie victories, of which four of these were in the relays and one in the long jump to give 37 points.

Biggers, and John Crane supplied the speed.
